

WON'T NAME SUM WAR IS TO COST FOE

Allies Refuse to Fix Definite Indemnities to be Met By Germany

Finish Reparations Reply — Turks on Way to Receive Peace Terms

PARIS.—The big four today completed the reparations section of the reply to the German counter-proposals and ordered this portion of the note to be printed immediately. It is understood the allies refused to fix a definite sum for indemnities. Of the sixteen commissions studying the counter-proposals, all have reported except that one handling the economic situation.

The committee on Hungarian-Rumanian and Bohemian boundaries turned in its report this morning. The big four was to consider its findings this afternoon. The war-fare involving Hungary, Rumania and Bohemia also was to be taken up. Allied and German financial experts were to confer in Versailles today.

Chancellor Renner's first note in protest against the Austrian treaty, delivered today, takes up the economic situation and declared the treaty renders industrial and commercial life in Austria impossible. Premier Orlando, as the result of instructions from the Italian cabinet, is reported to have rejected the latest proposed solution of the Adriatic question, which included independence of Fiume.

TURKS ON WAY

Eight Turks are enroute here aboard the French battleship Democrite. They are coming merely as "experts," not being vested with plenary powers. They will be quartered at Vaucresson, between Versailles and St. Cloud.

The Turkish delegates, it is understood, will seek to place the responsibility for Turkey's part in the war on the Young Turks party. It is said they will agree to separation of Armenia and other sections of the Ottoman empire, but will object to the Greeks occupying Smyrna.

JEWISH APPEAL

A Jewish committee of which Julian Mack is chairman and which includes representatives of the United States and other members of the associated powers, has filed a formal appeal with the peace conference, beginning the further carrying out of the principle of protection for racial, religious and linguistic minorities, as brought out in the Austrian treaty. A memorandum attached to the communication declares the reason for the appeal is the pogroms being carried out in eastern European countries.

The committee proposes inclusion in the peace treaties of provisions for admission of Jews to citizenship of the countries they inhabit, as well as full protection of their religious, civil and educational rights. It is pointed out that thousands of families have been broken up as the result of massacres and indemnities and pensions are sought for widows and orphans.

NEW FOE ATTITUDE

BERLIN.—The German government has assumed a new attitude regarding the peace situation, as a result of recent evidences of international unrest.

The United Press was informed authoritatively that the government has abandoned its "won't sign" policy and adopted a more moderate position. "We desire to sign if you will let us—by making proper concessions."

At the same time, government spokesmen are letting it be known that War Minister Noske's guards are going to be kept in readiness for any eventuality. Demonstrations are likely this week at the funeral of Rosa Luxemburg, the Spartacan leader whose body was recently recovered from the Landwehr canal.

GET PACT JUNE 23

PARIS.—The German peace treaty is likely to be presented to all allied and associated powers' parliaments for ratification the week beginning June 23, according to information from a reliable source today.

In the event the Germans sign the treaty within the five day limit that will be granted after presentation of the allies' reply to the counter-proposals, no time will be lost in rushing the document to the parliaments of all the associated powers, as well as the German national assembly.

Premier Orlando, at his recent conference with members of the cabinet in Oulx, decided to summon the Italian parliament June 19. The French parliament already is in session, as is the American congress. The Germans have called the national assembly to meet in Weimar on Friday. The British parliament, while now taking its pentecostal vacation, will reassemble June 24.

The German national assembly is expected to decide whether to sign the treaty immediately after receipt of the allies' reply to the counter-proposals.

THOUSANDS JOIN IN WIRE STRIKE, UNION CLAIMS

KEYS DESERTED BY ONLY A FEW, COMPANIES SAY

Western Union and Postal Chiefs Declare Business is Not Interrupted

Working Forces Are Normal at Many Points, These Officials Assert

NEW YORK.—Conflicting claims with regard to the progress of the telegraphers' strike called for today throughout the United States were made by leaders of both sides.

In New York, Western Union traffic officials declared that 21 out of the morning force of 313 men in the main office were absent when the shift went on today.

The main Western Union office was picketed by union men who declared the company was seriously crippled in handling its business.

There was no interruption of business at the Postal, it was stated by operating chiefs.

Union pickets at the Postal office, however, asserted 100 men of the night shift walked out leaving but four operators at work.

WILL ISSUE STATEMENTS

Vice President Reynolds, of the Postal, said he was gathering reports on the situation and would issue a statement as soon as he had checked up.

President Carlton, of the Western Union, it was said, planned to issue a formal statement.

Chief Operator E. J. Jones, of the Chicago Western Union office, declared "100 per cent" of the operating force reported for duty this morning.

Union officials at Philadelphia estimated 200 operators left their keys there. On the other hand, Chief Operator Miller, of the Postal, asserted that only six Postal operators quit, and the Western Union claimed its working force was "normal."

Western Union and Postal executives denied that a single man there had quit his post.

PITTSBURGH REPORTS

Further conflicting claims came from Pittsburgh, Superintendent C. B. Horton, of the Pittsburgh district of the Western Union, declared the operating force was absolutely unaffected by the strike order.

Union officials advanced the claim that 200 Postal employees there had struck.

At Washington, Superintendent Taft, of the Western Union, said none of his men had complied with the strike order.

Union men in charge of the strike at Memphis, Tenn., claimed the entire Postal day force walked out. The Postal company was accepting business subject to "indefinite delay."

All Postal operators in Atlanta struck, union officials claimed.

Only one Western Union telegrapher and not a man employed by the Postal struck at Newark, according to company officials.

C. W. Herrin, a Western Union official at St. Louis, said no Western Union men had struck there on the early shifts.

At Detroit, C. H. McElreath, state organizer for the union, declared 250 men left their keys.

Strike leaders at New Orleans claimed the entire Postal force there walked out.

HAD TREATY TWO WEEKS, ROOT TELLS COMMITTEE

Former Secretary of State Testifies in "Leak" Investigation

Given Him by Returning Red Cross Chief, He Informs Quizzers

WASHINGTON.—Elihu Root, testifying unexpectedly before the senate "treaty leak" investigating committee today, said that he had a copy of the peace treaty for about two weeks.

Root said that he got it from Henry P. Davison, New York banker, who during the war headed the American Red Cross war council.

Root appeared before the committee as a voluntary witness.

Root warmly resented, he said, any suggestion by any one that he had no right to the treaty. He declared that it had been published in full by the German government and it thereupon became public property.

"All diplomatic secrecy ended when the Germans published the treaty," said Root. "I therefore resent any suggestion that I have not a right to have the treaty and use it as I see fit, as I propose to do."

"The publication of reports that this committee would inquire into possession of persons' here of copies of the draft of the treaty with Germany led me to feel it was proper, if not my duty, for me to come here and give the committee certain knowledge on the subject which I have," Root said.

SENT BY DAVISON

"I have a copy of the so-called treaty," Root declared dramatically. "I have had it several weeks. It was sent me by Henry P. Davison, chairman of the war council of the American Red Cross. He sent it to me a couple of weeks ago."

"I stand on my right to have it. I deny that anybody can properly question that right. I assert the entire propriety of my having it."

"Mr. Davison had it in Paris while there was consultation regarding the relation of the Red Cross to those affairs of international adjustment and he brought it away with him."

"There was no injunction against persons having possession of the document bringing it to the United States. I understand there has been such an injunction or prohibition issued since Mr. Davison left Paris. But there was none at the time he came away from Paris against bringing away any document he rightfully had."

"It was not a secret document," Root added.

DAVISON'S RIGHT

He defended Davison's right to the treaty draft because of the relation of the Red Cross to the treaty provisions.

"The relation of the Red Cross to international conventions and to traditions of international relations made it such that Mr. Davison's possession of the treaty was a matter of no idle curiosity but a part of the official duty of a man who abandoned his great business and gave his time to the Red Cross," said Root.

Senator Knox asked Root regarding Senator Hitchcock's charge on the senate floor that the treaty was "stolen property."

"Do you desire to be understood as saying that you did not have possession of stolen property as was charged on the floor of the senate?" Knox asked.

"I repeat any such suggestion," Root indignantly replied. "I feel a sense of strong resentment at being required to repeat any such suggestion."

Republican committee members heckled Hitchcock repeatedly about his charge that if Lodge held the treaty in his hands in New York he held stolen goods, probably obtained by bribery.

Hitchcock referred to "Borah's charges," but Senator Lodge sharply reminded him that "your statement about robbery and bribery was made in connection with the treaty I saw. The copy I saw was shown me by Senator Root."

DECREE CALLING OUT TELEGRAPH MEN THRUOUT U.S. IS NOW EFFECTIVE

Kills Father In Mother's Defense

HARRISBURG, Ky. — Robert Curd, 13, told officers here this morning he had fired a shotgun, wounds from which caused his father's death here late last night.

The boy said he heard his mother cry for help during a quarrel with his father, Frank Curd, and that when he entered the room he found his father about to strike his mother.

Officers did not arrest the boy, taking his mother's assurance that he would appear in court.

HARLEY TO HAVE CLEAR TRACK IN MAYORALTY RACE

Simpson Will Not Run, Say Heads of G. O. P. Machine In City

Chief Executive Mum on Matter — Burkhardt Only Democrat in Race

Col. John A. Harley is to have a clear track on the Republican ticket for the nomination for mayor of Lima, heads of the G. O. P. machine here say. They are leaving Mayor B. H. Simpson entirely out of the consideration and say he will not run, Simpson says nothing.

When approached by The News today on the proposition he was mum. Asked concerning the report that he would not file petitions before the time limit expires tomorrow he said:

"I have not said I was not in the race."

It was suggested that the time for filing was growing short.

"I have not said I was in the race," Simpson replied.

He left the matter stand at that. It is a fact that Simpson has had his "ear to the ground" for some months. Recently it was regarded as certain that he would take up the fight for a third term. Announcement by prominent politicians today indicates that he will not be a contestant.

The dropping out of Carl K. Rowlands a few days ago in favor of Colonel Harley left a two-man race on between Harley and Simpson on the Republican side.

With Simpson off Harley probably will be nominated by acclamation and there will be no fight in the primary on either side of the fence. That will be staged in November.

So far Frank A. Burkhardt is the only Democrat in the field and the indications are that he will be headed the nomination by acclamation.

That will mean "some race" in November. Both Harley and Burkhardt have strong followings and the election promises to develop into one of the most decisive battles in the city's history.

David L. Rupert, incumbent city auditor, has filed his papers with the board of elections.

Several members of the present council are for another term, including E. R. Foster, 4th ward; Thomas M. Beery, councilman-at-large, Fred C. Snyder, councilman-at-large, and W. J. Dempster, president of council, all being on the Republican ticket.

Richard I. Miller, Democratic for councilman from the fourth ward, has also declared himself a candidate.

Two additional candidates for constable have filed papers. John W. Sherkey and Doyle Marshall, Democrats.

Herbert A. Thomas is out for the school board on the Republican side, together with James Edward Dexter, who is a candidate for the board of education on the Republican ticket.

Edward C. Slegeman, Democrat, has filed candidacy papers for assessor for the second ward.

CHICKS DIED IN $15,000 FIRE

MANSFIELD, Ohio.—The buildings of the poultry farm of the Ohio State Reformatory were destroyed completely by fire. Thousands of eggs in the process of incubation were ruined and thousands of young chicks were killed. Sparks from a passing railroad engine are believed to have set fire to the buildings. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

Walk Out Director Konenkamp Says 60000 Employees Will Have Answered Call to Quit Posts By Nightfall

Service In Large Number of Cities Already Badly Crippled, He Avers—Declares Reports Highly Encouraging

CHICAGO.—Conflicting statements were issued here today by striking telegraphers and the big employing companies. Independent reports from the central states showed portions of operating staffs had left their jobs, but that in most cases there was a working force.

At the Chicago Telephone company office it was "officially" stated no employees were out. Service in the city showed no sign of impairment. "The strike is a dead issue with us," A. C. Kronkhitte, manager of the lakes division of the Western Union, said. He claimed the entire force of 8,000 in his district was at work.

"Pickets outside our buildings in cities in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana are not our employers," he said.

Strikers here said only 15 out of 400 operators were left in the Postal offices. The office refused a statement. The striking force here was augmented by possibly 150 messenger boys.

S. J. Konenkamp, directing the strike in the central states, as well as the entire strike, said Omaha, Denver, San Francisco and Butte were badly crippled.

Konenkamp said reports were so encouraging that he felt safe in estimating 60,000 telegraphers will be out before nightfall. He declared that 500 postal employees now are striking in Chicago.

E. W. Collins, Postal general division superintendent, said only 75 are out here. He said steps are being taken to fill the ranks and that service will not be hindered.

UNION STATEMENT

President S. J. Konenkamp, of the telegraphers' union, at 8 a. m. issued the following statement:

"The full extent of the strike will not be known for a couple of days and will increase in force throughout the country. The telegraph workers have been forced to make a test of strength to determine whether an avenue of adjustment is open to them. It is only when the strength lies on the side of the workers that arbitration is permitted as the way out. We were willing to have our case adjusted by a fair tribunal before the strike was declared. Now we feel confident the result will be in our favor."

J. J. Welch, of the Western Union, said of the 2,700 Western Union telegraph workers in the Illinois-Wisconsin-Indiana division, none was a member of the union.

Konenkamp discredited this statement, declaring at least 500 are members.

The Postal company appears to be the hardest hit, reports saying only chief operators are on the job. Postal officials refuse to make a statement.

Reports as to the progress of the strike received at the office of President Konenkamp showed:

Memphis, 40 to 50 men out; Jacksonville, 125 out; Tampa, 30 out; Wilmington, N. C., 7 out of 9; Augusta, 3 out of 6 out; Charlotte, N. C., 100; Charleston, S. C., 24 out of 35 out; New Orleans 14; Atlanta 450 out of 500; Norfolk, 40 out; Columbia, S. C., 20 out; Montgomery, 14 out of 16; Birmingham, 15 out of 20; Pensacola, 3 out of 4, and Knoxville, 15 out.

REPORTS OF CITIES

PITTSBURGH.—Approximately 200 telegraphers employed by the Postal Telegraph company here walked out this morning, when the nation-wide strike order went into effect, officials of the telegraphers' union declared.

Only three telegraphers remained at their posts in the Postal offices, it was stated.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Telegraph union officials claimed today that the entire day force of the Postal Telegraph company's operating department here went on strike this morning.

The company announced it is accepting business "subject to indefinite delay."

DETROIT.—All local telegraphers except the chiefs went out this morning," S. C. McElreath, state organizer of the telegraphers' union, said today. "About 250 men left their keys."

At the office of the Postal company it was said that approximately 150 men had quit. "This is the majority," said an official of the company.

BOSTON.—Strike leaders here professed today to be satisfied with the number of Western Union Telegraph company employees who went on strike in accordance with the call for a nation-wide strike.

Leaders said that until a meeting was held it would be impossible to say how many telegraphers struck.

No Western Union officials were available at an early hour, but a statement from the company was expected before noon.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Managers of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph offices this morning said that all their operators were at their posts.

Union officials also agreed that none of the key men had left their posts.

ATLANTA.—Practically all Postal telegraph operators obeyed the nation-wide strike order today, union officials claimed. The company was expected to make a statement later.

ST. LOUIS.—Western Union and Postal Telegraph company officials here were picketed early today. Union leaders placed men about the plants at 6:30. Nearly 500 employees of the companies are expected to go out here, R. F. Wise, president of the St. Louis council, forecasts. No employees of the Western Union were out at 7:30 a. m., according to C. W. Herrin. He predicted no interruption in service.

A. T. and T. company authorities said they did not believe men in the local plant would strike.

WASHINGTON.—"Not one of our telegraphers struck this morning," Gen. Supt. Taft, of the Western Union, declared.

"We have carefully checked over our list of absentees and cannot find one that is due to disaffection," he added.

At the office telegrams were accepted without restrictions.

CLEVELAND.—Union officials said today that between 135 and 200 Western Union and Postal telegraphers are on strike here. Wire chiefs of both companies insisted they had full crews operating their wires.

Death Of 'Queen' Causes Mourning

There is deep mourning at 808 West Wayne street.

"Queen," the much loved and popular canine, was killed by a west Wayne street car Tuesday night, while Ed. Magg and his wife, together with Elmer Roberts and his wife, were in Toledo, where the men-folks took a casual glance at the champion and challenger.

"Queen" in her younger days had been much celebrated when the Williams and Davis ambulances were horse drawn. She was then the property of "Ot" Davis, but when the ambulance service was motorized she was taken by the Magg's, who learned to love the pet dearly.

When the animal was killed the Williams and Davis ambulance called for the body and it was shitably buried.

PLENTY OF WORK

Unemployment in Lima Fast Decreasing, Says Shetler

"Work for All" is the word at the Lima branch of the Federal Employment agency in the Memorial building.

Building trades are absorbing men of all trades and pursuits. A dearth of employment at the local shops and factories is largely responsible for the placing of men in these jobs, according to C. E. Shetler, in charge of the station.

"There is occupation for all those who wish to secure jobs," he stated recently. "Of course we are not able always to put an applicant at his particular line of work, but other lines are needing his service," he said.

At present the demand for work is being met and altho no official figures are available the rate of unemployment in Lima is decreasing, according to the manager of the local office.

COURT MUST DETERMINE WHETHER OR NOT WIFE WAS STOLEN FROM HUSBY

Five thousand dollars damage for the alienation of his wife's affection is to be asked with the hearing of the suit instituted by Thomas O'Neill against George Cooksey in common pleas court Thursday before Judge Klinger.

In his petition O'Neill alleges that he was injured February 7, 1918, necessitating his removal to the City hospital, during which time Cooksey is alleged to have taken advantage of the situation and stole his wife's affections.

Thru his solicitations, he avers, she went to Indiana and secured a divorce, thereafter contracting a marriage with Cooksey.

An answer filed by Cooksey denies all the allegations of the plaintiff but admits that they were married in Detroit. He does not admit that he was the cause of the divorce proceedings.

CROP OUTLOOK IN COUNTY GOOD

Report Shows High Standing Among Other Districts of State—Fruit Damaged

Very favorable crop conditions in

Allen county are shown for June 1, in the monthly report of Ohio crop conditions of J. L. Cochran of the Ohio Co-Operative Crop Reporting service. This county stands high among the counties of the state in this respect.

Wheat as reported for the first of this month showed 113, or 13 points above normal for this time of year. The condition increased from 104 on May 1. The acreage of the county is shown to be 88 per cent as compared with last year.

Oats condition is shown to be 93 rye, 100 and hay 95. Only a few counties are given a higher rating than this. Farmers of the county are encouraged over the grain outlook. The same is true of practically the entire state. Less encouraging reports on fruits are made. The frosts late in April and cool, wet weather cut down the prospects to less than half, the report shows.

The current "System Magazine" describes with more or less graphic terseness how Frank W. Fruauff, New York's busiest man, holds down 138 different big jobs. It also tells how placid in his temper— "it adds that Mr. Fruauff hasn't time to use the telephone. His assistants relieve him of all the small detail. We would like to know how long Mr. Fruauff could keep his temper if he had to use the telephones. We will bet a cookie it wouldn't be very long. But at that, we got the right number yesterday after calling only nine times.

SPOOFED AGAIN.

One day I met a maiden fair,
With golden locks beyond compare;
I wrote an ode upon her hair,
Enthralled quite, by her tresses rare.
Her guileless ways did me ensnare;
I lost my heart, but didn't care.
I called one fatal morning where
She lived to lay my secret bare.
All unannounced by trumpet's blare,
To go again I'd never dare.
For when I met her on the stair
Her charming tresses were not there;
She'd left them hanging on a chair.

By golly, we'll dance, too!

Dear Roy—I have had to take the paper away from my husband. He suffers from chronic hiccupping, and when he laughs they come on. He has had a severe attack every time he has read your column—Mrs. J. H. G.

Dear Roy—I saw an undertaker devouring your column yesterday. He says he does it before every funeral to make him look gloomy.—W. Derby.

A Westerner

ANNOUNCEMENT yesterday by Progressive Republican senators that Senator Hiram Johnson will be their candidate for president on the Republican ticket means a westerner will be in the race. Johnson has made an enviable record in California and his name has entered into political discussions for some time past. Likewise has the name of Senator Borah of Idaho, been mentioned, but his statement yesterday that Johnson would be the man is taken to mean he will not enter the fray.

IT HAS BEEN a long-standing theory that a westerner could not be elected to the highest office in the land. If one can be put in the White House, Johnson seems to be the logical man just now. It will be a test of this theory and unless something happens to dampen his chances, Johnson should have a good opportunity to break the precedent.

THE PLATFORM planks the progressive Republicans say will be included show clearly their intention to take labor into consideration to a great extent. Planks providing for immediate return of American soldiers from abroad, especially from Russia, complete restoration of free speech, a free press and the right of peaceable assembly and a labor program based on co-operation and a greater interest of the workers in the industries which their toll creates are almost parallel to socialist doctrines. Another plank providing for untangling alliances with Europe and no meddling by Europe in affairs of this country is merely a reiteration of the Monroe Doctrine.

THE JOHNSON boom is to be started immediately, it is announced. The pilgrimage of his supporters into states naming delegates to the national convention by primary will open the way and give a clear indication of his strength.

Hog Raising

ACTION OF the health authorities in forbidding the raising of hogs within the city limits should meet with general approval of those who desire a healthy city. Cities are not the place for this industry. It should be left for the rural districts.

THERE IS a city ordinance against the raising of swine within the borders of Lima, but during the war the bars were let down to a certain extent. They should be put up again.

SOME MAY contend that they should have this privilege because of the high cost of living. The high cost affects one as much as another. If all who feel the effects of high prices should start raising hogs during the hot weather it is easy to see what the conditions would be. It is a safer way to find some substitute for workers to reduce household expenses.

MISS LIMA: "Hubby knows when the doctor prescribes more out of doors for friend wife that it means a millinery bill for him."

A General Protest

LIMA DRUGGISTS probably will ask the public to voice its disapproval of the federal tax on soda fountain drinks and ice cream, especially the latter, within a short time. Petitions are being circulated in other Ohio cities calling for the repeal of this part of the revenue law.

IT IS A foregone conclusion that there will be signers galore to petitions here. People feel that ice cream and soft drinks are not luxuries. They feel that the law is unjust since it levies a tax of 20 per cent on five-cent drinks and 10 per cent on those costing 10 cents or more and want it repealed. There is much merit in this contention and it is expected that enough pressure will be brought to bear to have it done.

Today's Health Hints

FISHER AND FISK ON "COLDS"

Professor Irving Fisher (Yale) and Doctor E. L. Fisk, the authors of a book called "How to Live" without great risk, which gives the views of ninety-odd authorities of eminent repute—the Hygienic Reference Board, Life Extension Institute—come out right blunt and bold on the myth of taking cold. What they say about the influence of gentle salutary drafts has my O K and no doubt Chairman William Howard Taft's for the popular conception that a draft will cause a "cold" is "greatly exaggerated"—that is just what we are told. And the best of friends a seeker after health can cultivate, is a gentle draft—a GENTLE draft, be sure to get that through your pate.

All this in Chapter One in the very last edition, but not so fast, for Chapter Seven introduces genuine contribution.

After one has actually caught cold the rules above given for preventing a cold are in most particulars reversed. One should then avoid drafts. Now, isn't that aggravating? It amounts to the same old thing. Have plenty of fresh air—but look out you don't take more cold! Or, for variation, secure good ventilation—but exclude drafts! Certainly, my darling daughter, you may go out to swim—but don't go near the water.

You remember the old school-book story of the boy who tried to burn the grindstone for fox grandpa—until the last bell rang and then the young rascal got a good scolding from grandpa. Well, fox grandpa is still playing this trick on the public.

The only trouble with Professor Fisher and Doctor Fisk and the ninety-odd members of the advisory board and Mr. Taft and the other eminent gentlemen of the institute is that they can't decide just how far it is advisable to go on this question of taking cold—so they get you running along pretty fast for a while, till you begin to think it is a comparatively safe trail after all, and then, all of a sudden, they jump back and yell "Hey, look out, there's a real dangerous draft!" but of course your momentum carries you just over the line, so there you are. Take your cold philosophically, anyhow. Remember that you have caught it under the auspices of Fisk and the Ninety-odd Authorities. That ought to be some satisfaction.

Corsets and Stomachs
By profession I am an actor, playing the part of a woman. This requires wearing a corset which is a light elastic top affair and although I do not lace it very tight it has reduced my waist measure from 30 to 27 inches a day, find it comfortable and do not feel in the least any effects from it. Can any harm result from wearing such garment? Have you ever before heard of a man wearing a corset? (N. Y.)
ANSWER—The primary effect of lacing or corset wearing is increase of intraabdominal tension or pressure which diminishes appetite and tends to reduce weight but this is only temporary. The permanent effect is weak-

CONFESSIONS of an EVERY DAY WIFE

BY IDA MCGLOONE GIBSON

MRS. CHARLTON THINKS THE WORST

The man turned abruptly. "Then he knows about Eliene," he said.

"Not a word, but you see I do and I want to tell you that if you breathe a word to him I'll put every influence I can bring to bear to send you where you belong."

"What can you do?"
"If you give me Eliene's letters, I will arrange with Major Gordon to let you go free."

"Can you do that?" he asked eagerly.

"I think so, provided you give me the letters now and when I send Major Gordon to you, you do not mention her name in any way."

"You must have a great deal of influence with him," he remarked sneeringly.

"I have," I answered simply, determined to let him think what he would if I just got the letters.

He was silent a few moments and then he said, "Well, I have to trust you, my lady, but you are the first person, man or woman, I have utterly trusted in all my life."

"You would have been a much better man if you had trusted freely," I answered. "I have always found that people who trust me are worthy of trust themselves."

He took from the inner breast pocket of his coat a thin packet of letters and his hand shook as he held them out to me.

"Major Gordon saw me here and told me that he wished I would in some way get word to you and that he would help you fix up things with the bank."

"Then he would have done this without your intervention at all? Why did he pick on you when he did not know that you had ever heard of me?"

"He relied on what he knows of your character and knew that if you received a woman's card with the request that you come to her suite in the hotel your egoism would make you jeopardize your liberty."

"You are not complimentary."

"I do not intend to be. You probably for the first time in your life."

"I do not know. But if you ask that question of the Major—if you, by word or look, let him know that you have ever heard her name, I will see that the bank prosecutes you regardless of what the Major does in the matter."

"You have a lot of decision, young woman. Are you sure you can carry out that threat?"

"Just as sure as you are sitting in that chair."

Like all bullies he was a coward and he was impressed by my manner. I knew that if he mentioned Eliene to Major Gordon the Major would jump at the conclusion that I was here to see the man on Eliene's account and after that we might as well tell the whole story.

"How are you going to manage this business?" he asked.

are enjoying the luxury of having the truth from a woman's lips."

As I said this he opened the door and said: "You can tell Major Gordon that I will be in my room."

As he closed the door I heard light footsteps scurrying down the hall but thought nothing about it.

Before I could send for Major Gordon there was a light tap and I opened it to let him in.

"Go immediately to his room," I said. "He will do everything you ask."

"Mrs. Margot, you are wonderful. How did you do it?"

"There is no time to tell," I evaded. I pushed him toward the door and opened it to find the Major and myself confronted with Mrs. Charlton.

The Major was astonished, but somehow I seemed to have expected this all the time.

"Why, Mrs. Charlton," exclaimed the Major. "I did not expect you here."

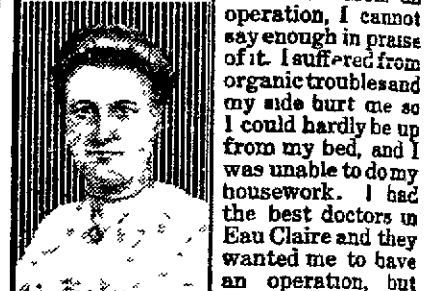

"Evidently not," she answered, with asperity.

(Tomorrow—"Mrs. Charlton Is Still Suspicious.")

When a Girl Marries

By ANN LISLE

"Virginia, I'm not going to beat around the bush. We're sisters now in feeling as well as fact, and we can afford to be absolutely frank; don't you think so?" I asked when we found ourselves alone in my apartment after our lunch with Terry.

"Of course, dear."

Virginia smiled her lovely aloof smile with the air of wanting to admit me to the sacred inner circles of its limited radius. She was sitting in the high Florentine "throne" chair to which she takes as naturally as I to cushions fluffed up back of me on the couch. A sudden warmth and tenderness for this sister of Jim's assailed me — it actually battered at my heart until it hurt.

I wanted to rush over and to fling myself on my knees at her side and snuggle my head against her and pour out her some of the love pent up in my heart. But six months of marriage to a Harrison had taught me that one doesn't treat the family that way.

"Once upon a time," I said reminiscently and indulging my own fondness for prologues, "I would have been afraid to discuss a Harrison with a Harrison, but now I feel I'm one too — Anne Harrison, accent on the 'H' — and not Barbara Anne Lee at all any more."

The answering smile was absolutely indulgent.

"Of course, Anne, you're one of us. And while I respect all reserve, most of all, the reserve of those I really love, I feel it's only natural you should have to talk now. Perhaps if I'd had some dear woman friend to confide in two years ago, things would have been different... I'll understand and keep your confidence so go ahead, dear. And don't feel that either of us is going to be disloyal to our Jimmie...."

"Jim" I echoed half under my breath.

I could feel the hot blood leap up to flutter its ungovernable red flag in my cheeks. So Virginia suspected — guessed. Jim's growing indifference to me — the thing I had been fanatically refusing to recognize — was becoming evident to his "Jeanie." The half-confidence, the hint of her own trouble she had just given me, showed that.

Then a queer, submerged sense gave me hint of something else

— a word of my own troubles would bring me closer to Virginia than I had ever been before. My pride submerged for a moment in the longing to talk it all out, and I just ached to confide in Jim's sister. But two things prevented.

First, the mere fact that Virginia is Jim's sister, and that in loyalty to the love, he didn't want, I couldn't talk about him to her.

Second, the fact that it was Pheobe who needed Virginia now. Little Pheobe had first claim on Virginia's sympathy. I didn't count — I ought to be able to fight my own battles.

These thoughts flashed through my brain while Virginia was speaking, in the brief second that it took me to echo, "Jim!" My answer was ready after a moment of silence.

"Jim!" I said again, "But it isn't Jim; I've brought you here to discuss, Jeanie. It's Pheobe."

"Pheobe?"

It was Virginia's turn to echo now and she did it rather blankly. "You don't like her friendship with Envy, I know that," I began. "Yes, you're right about that, but I can't interfere merely on the grounds that I don't like the friend Pheobe does like."

"No, you can't," I agreed. "That would be stealing Pheobe's freedom. But you would interfere, wouldn't you, if Envy's friendship were sweeping Pheobe into real danger?"

"I'd try. But I'm not much good at managing Pheobe," confessed Virginia.

"Between us, we must manage somehow," I said, thinking aloud. "Of course, I haven't any list of acquaintances. But we might give her a debutante tea or dance and have her meet the Right People."

Unconsciously I capitalized, and italicized my words. I hadn't any snobbish feeling, but I realized as soon as I had spoken that Virginia had. Her reply told me a great deal.

"I don't think we'd better try. The Harrison's had a real position once. But our loss of money — and — well, you see my own position is difficult now. Anne and Jim haven't the money. The Mason's are a good family; that makes it easier to reconcile oneself to Envy's ways."

Virginia stumbled and stammered a bit, and I felt the tiny, impalpable barrier of caste between us. But I charged right against it.

"Envy's ways are getting inexcusable," I declared.

"You mean?"

"I mean that she and Dick West and Sheldon Blake are seen night after night at that horrible Chinese dance hall where Mr. West took us the night of Jim's last dinner. And people are talking."

"Oh, no, Anne! Really dear, you rather alarmed me for a moment."

But Jim's partner — and Sheldon. No one will discuss Pheobe for being seen about with them. Really Sheldon is a splendid fellow and the Blakes are quite one of our best families. I've the utmost confidence in Sheldon."

"But, Virginia! People ARE talking, I tell you! Pheobe's crowd is awfully hilarious. And they're out so late! Such gay, conspicuous places, too! And they don't drink lemonade!"

"What a catalogue! My dear, that's society. And of course, now I know that Sheldon Blake is in the party, I discount all the malicious details some jealous cat of a gossip woman has been giving you."

"But it wasn't a jealous cat!" I flashed out in reply. "It was!"

I paused, amazed at my own temerity. I had actually been on the verge of telling Virginia that Pat was my informant.

NOTICE

We wish to announce to the public the change of management of the NEW YORK RESTAURANT 328 North Main

We have the best cook in the city, which enables us to serve the best meals to be had. 25c, 30c and 35c. JIM MELAS, Prop.

Additional buildings and equipment necessary immediately in order to build tires with sufficient rapidity to promptly fill orders which this company is securing.

Our present plant working day and night to produce approximately $5,000,000 worth of orders secured since January, this year.

The Rapid Growth and Expansion of The Ideal Tire & Rubber Company makes it necessary for this company to plan immediately to increase its factory output through additional buildings and equipment in order to handle the tremendous volume of business which it is securing.

Six months ago, the directors of this company planned to produce $2,000,000 worth of tires in 1919. This seemed at that time a very ambitious program, considering the newness of our plant, the great amount of work necessary in developing our production and sales distribution forces, and the publicity required to introduce GREYHOUND TIRES to the public.

The success of THE IDEAL TIRE & RUBBER CO. has so far exceeded even our own anticipation, that in the first five months of this year contracts have been secured for approximately $5,000,000 WORTH OF TIRES AND TUBES. This is probably the greatest record ever made by any tire and rubber manufacturing company in the first six months of its production.

In order to maintain even our present rate of progress, and to be able to produce sufficient tires and tubes to promptly fill the orders which our sales organization is securing, our Board of Directors has decided that it is necessary to immediately increase the capitalization of this company. In offering the securities of The Ideal Tire & Rubber Co. to the public and our stockholders, we wish to call your attention to the following facts:

- 1st—The manufacture of tires and tubes when produced in a properly organized and efficiently directed plant is a very profitable industry.
- 2nd—The Rubber Industry is one of the foremost in this country—absolutely essential—and is increasing with tremendous strides each year.
- 3rd—It is hardly necessary to remind anyone of the many fortunes that have been made in the tire industry, and are being made in it today. These fortunes have been secured by those who have invested in these tire companies during the early stages of their development.
- 4th—The Ideal Tire & Rubber Co. has passed through its formulative and speculative period, and is today an important factor in the Rubber Industry, producing tires so SUPREME IN QUALITY that every day adds to its prestige in the automobile world.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

The Ideal Tire & Rubber Co. invites you to look into the very unusual record which it is establishing—one that will make your investment opportunity in this company as great or greater than any offered before in the entire Rubber Industry.

BLACK WOOL TRIMS WHITE SPORT SUIT

By ELOISE

Everybody wants a sport suit. They have come to be one of the essentials of very well-dressed women's wardrobes just like shoes and hats and gloves. Most women and girls choose jersey sports suits and there are many things to be said in favor of jersey. It does not wrinkle as other materials, it comes in dark practical shades as well as in the brilliant hues, it is a desirable weight and can be made in many attractive styles. It is also less expensive than the sports silks which are popular just now.

Many women who like sports suits complain because they claim that the styles are too much alike. Here, then, is the very suit for those women. It is fashioned of white silk and would be a great deal like a lot of other sports suits if the designer had not decided to use black brushed wool as trimming. But he did decide to use it and now the suit with its novel black and white effect is different from every other sports suit and will please even the most fastidious woman. The long stole collar and pocket tabs are of the black wool and while it may look like a sensible fashion fad to combine such different materials for summer wear yet there is a practical reason which is very apparent. The collar on a coat always soils easily and the pocket flaps also, but the black on this white suit will lengthen the time between its cleaning days. The wide cuff at the hem of the skirt forms the narrow lines about the ankle, which are the season's fad.

Mrs. Charles Evans, of 516 Haller street, is spending several weeks in Lima, Kansas, where she was called by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Ora L. Bennett.

Mrs. Joseph Collins, of Wandolena, was called to Lima, Monday afternoon by the death of Mrs. Belle Daniels.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Pfeiffer, have returned to their home on west Market street after spending several days in Van Wert, as the guests of Mrs. Pfeiffer's parents. They were accompanied by Miss Esther Gunsett, who will be their guest.

A most delightful social meeting of the Sunshine society was held Tuesday evening at the cozy country home of Mrs. I. M. Armstrong, in Homeacre. The rooms were resplendent with peonies and roses. This was the final meeting of the year.

Mrs. Henry Dettel Sr., of south Cole street, delightfully entertained the Monday Knitting club with bridge at her home Tuesday afternoon. The living room in which the tables were laid for play was made attractive with bows and baskets of pink roses tied with tulle. At the close of the game Mrs. Merton Sealts was awarded the prize. At 5 o'clock a delicious tea was served.

Thursday evening an interested party of relatives and friends attended the recital given by Miss Gail Parmenter's pupils in the Fletcher method of music. The recital was at Market street Presbyterian church. Decorations of roses and peonies made a pretty setting for the groups of young musicians who were daintily attired in summer frocks.

Ruth Weisenenthal was the only one to graduate and her work was such as to astonish everyone. She gives promise of becoming a brilliant performer. It was in her original melodies she was at her best. "A Storm" had a most realistic beginning, showing how a young composer feels with nature. "The Chinese Doll" was just as if a bobbing little doll were before you, and "Song of the Anvil" gave another view point of interest. Other numbers on the program were all given by smaller children who are most promising.

How American Women May Keep Faces Young

"The American smart woman ages early, far earlier than the English woman," says Christian Miller, F. C. I., the famous English health expert. She adds that our climate "so exhilarates that you over-exert yourselves and grow old before you know it. That same exhilarating air dries the skin. The skin that lacks moisture grows pale and withered looking and soon forms wrinkles."

"The American complexion" is best treated by applying pure rose cream, which causes the faded, lifeless cuticle to take off in minute particles, a little each day, until the fresh, young skin beneath is wholly in evidence. Every druggist has this wax; one ounce usually is sufficient. Spread on at night like cold cream, washing it off next morning.

FOR WOMEN

What is more attractive than a clever blouse? Fashion decrees that the simple blouse of handkerchief linen, dimity, crepe de chine or men's crepe is the most fitting for wear with a strictly tailored suit. Among the successful types are those featured with frills of cluster tucks. Voile, mousseline, georgette, laces and nets are all popular in the dressy imported models. Sheer French voile in white and vivid colors are youthful. Not combined with lace or over chiffon are the fabrics used most extensively in the dainty models, which feature the round neck and short sleeves.

Another stunning model is the long overblouse on which embroidery and combining material are used. The hip length overblouse is also in evidence but is a bit trying and should only be worn by the younger generation.

Sleeves are shown in full length half length and short. Low neck prevail.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

I prepare Bulgarian Blood Tea in a convenient family size package, which can be obtained at any drug store. However, if your druggist does not have it, I will be pleased to send you my large family size package, which lasts five months, postpaid and insured, for $1.25. Address H. H. "SAFETY FOR YOUR SAVINGS"

SPORT SNAP
: SHOTS :

Yale's football association is completing plans for the most extensive season on record. The preliminary organization has included the appointment of a new athletic director for the university, a director for the freshmen class, the election of a new captain and training plans which include the calling of a squad of 120 two weeks before college opens in the fall.

Before the season reaches its height Yale men think that a squad of more than 400 will be in training and that probably a thousand undergraduates will play football this fall. The new rule requiring students to take part in some branch of athletic sport has led to plans for the biggest squads on record in every branch of sport and to the construction of large numbers of new fields.

Usually only about fifty candidates report when training begins. This season double this number has been ordered out for the beginning of work two weeks before college begins. It is expected that this will be doubled as soon as the fall term opens and that the number will increase instead of decrease till the season closes. Class an dother interunit games will be played throughout the season.

Dr. Albert Sharpe, the new director of athletics, will assume charge of the squad when it reports September 15. Herman P. Olcott, the new freshman director, will report at Yale at the same time. This position has been created largely because of Yale's freshmen classes and departments into a common group. A freshmen dean will be appointed to take charge of the class activities.

Olcott, who has been appointed permanent freshman director, has been director of the navy department commission on training camp activities for the Great Lakes navy station, the largest station in the world.

For the vacant Yale captaincy Tim Calahan, center, and Carter Colt, guard, are the leading candidates. Artemas Gates, who was elected captain in 1916, returned to college last March after a year and a half of military service. He has decided not to return to college next fall and to resign the captaincy of the eleven. His successor will be chosen June 14.

Bill James, the Braves' right-hander, may soon be taking a regular turn in the box for the Boston club. When the Robins piled up a big lead off Fillingim in Boston recently, George Stallings decided to experiment with James and the hurler showed flashes of his 1914 form. It was the first time he pitched for the Braves this season, and during the five and one-third innings he worked he was found for six hits and two runs were scored off him. He retired Malone and Johnston on strikes, the latter fanning with a mate resting on third base.

TO MEET O'LEARY
AT WAPAK. TONIGHT

"Happy" McHenry who will go up against Mike O'Leary at Wapakoneta Wednesday night. The pair will box at Brown's Opera House, and fans from Lima and various surrounding communities are fixing to make the trip.

Lima fans are advised that the interurban cars leave here at 7:30, and return at 11:10.

Charley Maxwell, Lima referee, will be the third man in the ring.

A battle royal, between group of husky darkies, and several preliminaries, will complete the bill.

COW BRINGS $3,500 AT
WAPAKONETA'S BIG SALE

WAPAKONETA.—The most successful and the biggest pure bred cattle sale ever held in Ohio was staged here at the Angliue county fair grounds, when James V. Hill of Roundhead Ohio, and Ira Price of this county sold seventy-one head of Hereford cattle.

Twelve hundred breeders from all parts of the United States assembled here for this sale. The total of the sale of cows, heifers and bulls was $77,150. The sensation of the sale was the purchase of Bess Fairfax, less than two years old, by B. B. Law of St. Lew. West Virginia, at the price of $3,500.

OPEN AIR BOXING
AT BALL PARK

The June 19th show, the opening show of the newly organized Lima Athletic club, will be held at Murphy street ball park, in an open air arena. K. O. Brown, Mike O'Leary, Freddie Hammon, and Young Webb, are the double main event boxers, and should attract fans from all over the district.

Dues in the club have been reduced to $10 a year. This was done to obviate the necessity of paying 10 per cent tax on club dues for all memberships over $10 a year, which in the case of the local club would have come to $1.20 a year on the former.

The plans of the club call for one boxing show of first class talent each month. Members will be admitted to reserved seats, and some clever fast exhibitions are being planned.

H. E. Simonton, Chamber of Commerce hall, is secretary of the organization.

Ringside Flashes

All sport eyes in this district are looking towards Wapakoneta Wednesday night. Mike O'Leary goes into the arena at the Brown Theatre on that night, to give Happy McHenry a lacing, if possible. The Lima lad has been training rigorously for the past month, and in the finest kind of shape. With Young Masterpole, of Lima, the pair of scrappers went to Wapak Monday, and staged an exhibition match before the Moose lodge.

THE RED LANTERN

For the past three days a photo play has been presented at the Lyric Theatre which for production and manner of exhibiting is very much out of the ordinary.

"The Red Lantern," a romance of mysterious China from the pen of Edith Wherry, gives Nazimova her greatest opportunity of demonstrating her wonderful artistry. In it she portrays a dual role expressing two distinct characterizations without conflicting one with the other.

"The Red Lantern" resounds with barbaric melody and glows with the gorgeous hues of the orient. The magnificence of the settings, the costumes and the production as a whole, gives an appropriate background for the work of this brilliant star.

The Lyric management is presenting it in an equally elaborate fashion. Patrons are met by costumed lady ushers. The interior of the theatre is a bower of apple blossoms dotted with red Chinese lanterns. The screen is surrounded by scenic reproductions of Chinese palaces. A faint odor of joss aids in carrying one out of the present into the story itself. The Lyric has brought a wonderful picture here which will be presented daily during the balance of the week. A person might see this production several times and yet find something new in its production.

MURAD
THE TURKISH CIGARETTE

There is always a reason why!

MURADS are made of 100% pure Turkish tobacco—the world's most famous tobacco for cigarettes—grown about the Black Sea, in the Orient.

MURADS are also the world's largest selling high-grade Turkish cigarette—and their greatest increase in sales in any year was in 1918.

Now don't you agree, there is always a reason?

It is true that "ordinary" cigarettes cost a trifle less.

REFEREE TO BE NAMED SOON

By H. C. HAMILTON
TOLEDO—The question of a referee for the Willard-Dempsey battle here next month probably will be settled within a few days, it was indicated today.

Announcement was made that the army, navy and civilian board of control for boxing has been asked to sanction an official for the contest, and A. J. Drexel-Biddle, chairman of the board, has suggested that William G. Rocap, sports editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, be given the place.

As pointed out by the United Press some time ago, Jack Kearns is willing to accept any fair man, with the nerve to render a decision at the end of 12 rounds, provided the fight goes the limit. Rocap fills this specification, for it was he who braved a storm of criticism by awarding a decision to Pete Herman in New Orleans some time ago, taking the bantamweight title away from Kid Williams.

Rocap's reputation as a referee and boxing authority is well known. He was favorably considered for the Willard-Johnson bout in Havana until a decision was reached to give the place to Jack Welsh.

Willard is known to be passive in the matter of a referee, with the exception that he has several personal grudges against men who have been mentioned in connection with the place, and would not permit one of them to serve. He probably would be willing to name Rocap.

A mysterious effort has been made to send Bill Brown, New York, into the ring as third man, but this apparently fell thru. The news was printed in some sections that Brown had been unofficially named and he was said to have confirmed it. Tex Rickard, promoter, denied the report immediately, altho he did not say that Brown had not been given consideration.

Jack Dempsey was still laying off from boxing today, but probably will resume hard work Friday. The gash cut over his eye when a loose lace in a sparring partner's glove slashed him is still open and no chances will be taken. He is still continuing all work with the exception of boxing.

Ringside Flashes

Eddie Brown of Cleveland, and George Lewis, of Toledo, will feature the main event of a boxing show before the Coghlan A. C., Fremont, June 17. Kid Cottin, of Toledo, and Tommy O'Boyle, of Cleveland, will stage the semi-final.

Billy Miske, of St. Paul, had a surprise handed him Tuesday night, when Kid Norfolk, of New York, beat him on points in their ten round go.

Martin Burke put one over on Terry Kellar, in their 15 round bout in New Orleans Tuesday night, when he got a referee's decision. Terry was lucky to stay the 15 rounds, according to ringside dope. Burke is to box Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis, at New Orleans later this month.

One of the best boxing shows ever staged in Indiana was shown before an enormous crowd of Shriners in Indianapolis Tuesday night, and several surprises were handed out. Don Curley won an unexpected victory over Bud Christiansa, who was being touted for a bout with Johnny Kilbane. Chuck Wiggins gave Phil Harrison a good lacing. Harrison won a technical K. O. from Jack Dillon recently, but Chuck was too many for him. In fact the referee stopped the bout in the third. Ritchie Mitchell won over Jack Hanlon, of Denver, in their ten round bout.

Gossip of the Movies

The movies have been heralded for some time as the best kind of propaganda and all kinds of good causes, such as war work, Red Cross and the like, and now comes news from the coast that the motion picture industry, or rather one of its greatest men, will help promote ocean flying.

An offer of $1,000 as prize money for aviators who will attempt a flight from Venice, Cal., to Australia was made recently by Thomas H. Ince, motion picture producer.

To the first man to land $35,000 will be paid. To the first aviator attempting the flight, who, although failing to reach Australia, reaches the Hawaiian Islands, $10,000 will be paid. In the event none reaches the Hawaiian Islands, $5,000 will be paid to the one making the best showing.

Tom Ince is the man who made the Triangle film and he is the man who laid out the plants at Inceville and Culver City, California. He is the man to whom we are indebted for William S. Hart, Charles Ray, Dorothy Dalton and Enid Bennett and a score of others, and perhaps now we shall be indebted to him for a trans-Pacific air flight.

Mr. Rex Beach and Samuel Goldwyn have joined forces and announce a new company, to be known as "The Eminent Authors' Pictures, Incorporated." The concern will have exclusive rights for a long term of years to the works of Rupert Hughes, Rex Beach, Gertrude Atherton, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Basil King, Gouverneur Morris and Leroy Scott.

Mrs. Sidney Drew will continue her work for Paramount, but in the comedies, instead of being Polly, the wife, she will be Polly, the sister of a frivolous bachelor brother. Donald McBride, associated with the Drews in many comedies, has been engaged to play the part of brother.

LILLIAN WALKER RETURNS

Lillian Walker, she of the dimples and bewitching smile, is coming back to the screen. She has been signed by the J. Warren Kerrigan Company and will play opposite Mr. Kerrigan in his first independent production, now in the making on the Brunton lot.

Short Shavings

They were entertaining the minister at dinner, and after dessert little Johnny said:

"Won't you take another piece of pie?"

The minister laughed. "Well Johnny," he said, "since you are so polite, I will have another."

"Good," said Johnny. "Now, ma, remember your promise. You said if it was necessary to cut into the second pie I could have another piece."

"Fighting Bob" Evans being in the city one Sunday morning went to church wearing an ordinary civilian suit. Arriving early he took a good seat, moving to the further end. Later, another man came, looked sharply at him and sat down. Soon he passed a paper to the intruder on which were these words:

"Sir, are you aware that I pay $500 a year for the exclusive use of this pew?" Evans looked at it, took out his card and wrote in reply:

"My dear sir, you pay a damn sight too much. Robert D. Evans, Captain U. S. Navy."

Admiral Bradley Fluke was talking in New York about a naval critic.

"This naval critic," he said, "reminds me of Swetson."

"What struck Swetson?" a man asked at the club. He failed in medicine, he failed in the law and he failed in the ministry, and now he's moved into a $2,500 flat in Riverside drive.

"Well, you see," said another man. "Swetson has started to write magazine articles of 'Why Men Fail,' and he made a mighty good thing of it. Qualified, you know."

A man passing by saw the bulb and pocketed it.

A Lima man observed this. "Many persons use light bulbs as rain forecasters," he said. "The bulbs are filled with water and hang on porches. When rain is due the globes become covered with moisture."

"Scores of families put up bulbs during the recent warm spell hoping for the long expected rain."

"I watched one myself and it didn't steam up until the very day it rained."

'PLAY' SCHOOLS ARE THE LATEST TO BE LAUNCHED

"Health, Strength and Joy" the Slogan—Model Lunches Part of Scheme

WASHINGTON.—A new union has recently sprung up thruout the country, led by hundreds of school teachers and backed by the Division of School Hygiene of the United States Bureau of Education.

It does not demand a raise in wages. Instead, it adopts the unique platform that the acquisition of money is unimportant so long as you get a quart of milk a day, an egg and some fresh fruit and vegetables, ten hours of sleep, and a new tooth brush when you need it.

The union already numbers more than 14,000,000 members, all from 5 to 16 years old, whose object is to get their parents to give them these things, which the organizers assert are necessary to health.

SCHOOL LUNCHEAS AID The most important thing that various communities have done to help both the children and their parents out is to furnish hot, nourishing lunches in the schools.

School lunches have now been introduced in 40 American cities.

The child watching and measuring test, which has shown the tremendous number of undernourished children, has given great impetus to the school lunch movement. Every community which has weighed its children is convinced that lunches are the next step, and is organizing means to provide them.

To these communities the guidance of the Division of School Hygiene of Bureau of Education, which has carefully investigated nutrition experiments in various schools, will be of great assistance.

"Health play schools," established in New York last summer for the all-day care of undernourished children were one of these experiments.

NEW YORK SHOWS HOW

The New York Board of Education constructed two school buildings, the use of a kitchen, two woodwork, and a bath in public school buildings, steamer chairs and kindergarten supplies, and furnished 39 teachers. District nurses, for home-visiting and for follow-up clinical cases, were provided by the city health department. Free transportation for the children's outings was secured by the department of charities.

The settlements gave the use of their plants for three centers, one of which they financed and operated. The Academy of Medicine, thru a special committee of doctors, arranged for the medical examinations and for general medical supervision. Story-tellers and books were contributed by the public library.

For two months the play schools took hundreds of New York children off the streets and gave them the healthy, normal lives that should belong to all children.

SCHOOLS A SUCCESS To increase the weight of the undernourished child, and at the same time to educate him in proper feeding and living habits, the play schools provided food. Every day at noon luncheon was served, prepared under the direction of an expert dietitian.

"What we tried for in the play school," says one of its creators, "was the child's complete and normal life. We were trying to make the whole day worth while and wholesome for every child, instead of providing a few hours of health or happiness and ignoring the rest of the day."

And the idea of the play schools has now become the basis of the new union. "Health, Strength and Joy," is its slogan.
